From your CHAIRMAN

The FEUDNRSM Alumni Foundation Board of Trustees will be meeting on

NOLI C GUINIGUNDO MD

Saturday, March 25, 2017, at the Monte Carlo Hotel in Las Vegas. The deadline for the reservation to the Hotel has passed.

Some had indicated staying in a different place somewhere in Las Vegas.

What is real important is their presence at the conference room.

Local members are suggesting post meeting supper somewhere, which is entirely good and acceptable.

It is important also to have a quorum as we are going to discuss several important items which would affect the Alumni Foundation in general.

We welcome back our surgical and medical missionaries who are magnanimous in spending their time serving our kababayans, money, and goodwill, and medical supplies which are most important for the well-being of our sick Pilipinos.

The Philippines Department of Health had shown its plan and agenda to help those who are needing medical attention and the most important thing is United States surgical medical, and dental missionaries are welcome; but please communicate with the Department of Health to coordinate the venues and

The Book of Genesis tells us that God created the heavens and the earth and all that is in it. At the conclusion of each day of creation, God saw that it was good. And then evil entered into the world. The Lord saw that the wickedness of humankind was so great on the earth and that every inclination of the thoughts of their hearts was only evil continually. And the Lord was sorry that he made humankind on the earth, and it grieved him to his heart.

Genesis 2: 5-6

The prevailing themes of weekly readings for the season of Lent begin from Old Testament stories about the recurrent disobedience of God's people and how God dealt with them. We are told of the great flood to blot out from the earth the human beings He had created. A new generation was to survive beginning with Noah and his family. But as we well know, disobedience against the Lord continued. If we were to read the Old Testament for the first time, we would be waiting expectantly for God to smack down His creation once and for all. How much more can God take, with all this idolatry and open disobedience of His statutes? On Ash Wednesday, we read from the prophet Joel who was reflecting on the troubles that the Israelites were

As one of the founders of Samahan Community Clinic of San Diego County, I am indeed inspired to write this article when a charitable organization in Las Vegas, Rising Asian Pacific Coalition for Diversity (RAPACID), IRS#501 c3 approved Foundation is in the process of establishing a Community Health Clinic – Twin Lakes Community Clinic (TLCC) under the energetic and able leadership of Ms Salve Vargas Edelman.

The organization's mission is to provide quality health care people can afford. Volunteers in medicine is not alone in assisting the uninsured. Nevada Health Centers operates six clinics in Clark County but it is not enough, much more when we are in the advent of Health Care Reform.

The proposed clinic will be located at medically underserved area/ population of Clark County. These service areas (zip codes 89107, 89106 and 89108) are identified as an existing Health

AN OPEN LETTER

To: Honorable Paulyn Jean R Ubial MD
Secretary of Department of Health
San Lazaro Compound, Manila

I had the opportunity to attend your meeting with the foreign medical surgical missioners last January 18, 2017, at your office at the Department of Health.

NOLI C
GUINIGUNDO MD

I represented the FEUDNRMS Alumni Foundation of which I am the Chairman of the Board. While I did not get a chance to talk to you personally, after listening to Undersecretary Roger Tong-An MD, and BIHC Director Marlene Beltran and of course your talk on behalf of the Department of Health, I had the impression the Department means well for the welfare of our poor people.

Initially we were made to believe that the Department is trying to limit or restrict the surgical and medical missions to different areas in the Philippines. This was compounded by the local doctor's apparent resentment to the visiting missionaries particularly the follow up on post-operative patients.

You mean well for our kababayan's benefit and I am personally behind you in your effort. I hopefully will continue this dialogue with you, which I did not get a chance with the past Secretary Enrique T. Ona MD, my own classmate at the University of the Philippines.

I hope to continue to working with you on the two medical surgical missions that we undertook last January 2017 in the Philippines.

The Society of Philippine Surgeons in America (SPSA), founded by Hernan Reyes MD in 1972, will be celebrating its Sapphire Jubilee anniversary in Las Vegas on August 22-26, 2017, at the South Point Hotel Casino as the venue.

The Filipino United Network (FUN) and Filipino American Initiative to Transform our Homeland (FAITH) seminar on Philippine health care and foreign surgical medical missions is definitely scheduled on Thursday afternoon, August 24, 2017, from 3:00 to 5:30 pm, following the SPSA professorial lecture. A Board Meeting of FUN and FAITH is also being planned after a the seminar. Non-SPSA fellows are invited and encouraged to attend the continuing medical education, FUN/ FAITH seminar and the Friday night Sapphire Anniversary Gala night.

Professional Shortage area and Medically underserved area/ population. It is also areas with high unemployment rate and with very few being served by the Safety Net Clinics in Las Vegas according to Dr Daniel Fabito, appointed chief medical officer.

CESAR D CANDARI MD

Very soon, the Section 330 grant funding will be applied for to be Federally Qualified Health Center and apply under the Federal Tort Claims Act for free medical malpractice insurance.

Dr Fabito stated further: ... the Twin Lakes Community Clinic hopes to provide high quality, comprehensive, primary and preventable affordable health care to the needy regardless of ability to pay with additional goal of improving the health of individuals and their families as well as the health and well-being of the entire communities.

We, Pilipino-American organizations must show our credibility, spirit and the will for unity as we work together in the spirit of Samahan. Sharing the story of Samahan Community Clinic for emulation

The Samahan Community Health Clinic of San Diego County is a story to behold. It is a story to prove to all and sundry, beyond any shadow of a doubt, that Pilipinos can actually unite and persevere to pursue a worthy and a noble cause.

For non-Pilipinos, samahan in Tagalog means togetherness, working together or helping each other. So whatever nuance of the word you choose it translates to people helping people, exactly what the three doctors had in mind when they started their operation in the dingy barbershop backroom on Fifth Avenue and Market Street in downtown San Diego. How they were able to energize the community to support their project is a story worth telling.

Operation Samahan has since grown to six clinic sites in San Diego County with an additional site pending in City Heights.

How it started? At first, it was only a gleam in three dreamers' eyes. The dreamers, Drs Cesar D Candari, Romeo Quini and the late Adelito Gale, were Pilipino-American doctors practicing in San Diego.

They shared a common dream to reach out to some of the manongs (elderly Pilipinos) living in San Diego, immigrants like themselves, who have shied away from medical care for many years, not only because of indifference but also because of poverty and language and other cultural barriers.

In 1972, they put their heads together and with the help of other volunteers and Pilipino community activists, they started a makeshift clinic in the backroom of a downtown barbershop. Using their own time and resources, they made their consultation services available to patients on Friday nights when at least one if not all three doctors and other volunteers manned their tiny, understaffed clinic.

Others who were there to lend a helping hand in the early days included other physicians, as well as registered nurses.

Medical care for underprivileged. From the start, the keynote was affordable medical care to all those who needed it but had no medical insurance and could not afford the regular fees charged by most doctors.

The three founders, in the spirit of love and compassion of caring became a legacy.

And business soon burgeoned. Word got out fast in the Pilipino-American community that there was this free medical clinic operated by three caring doctors of their own kind which opened its doors on Friday evenings. Not only the elderly came but also the women with babies.

Soon the three doctors were besieged by a growing number of patients, much more than what they were prepared to handle. There was suddenly a critical shortage of room and support personnel.

At this point, the doctors decided that they needed more help. Help from more members of the community as well as government agencies who could provide the much needed funding for the expansion of the clinic's facilities and manpower.

And so, in 1973, Operation Samahan was officially born and incorporated as a private, nonprofit health organization whose primary mission is to provide affordable medical care to the poor and uninsured. The first Pilipino Medical Foundation Inc was organized to administer the clinic; Dr Candari became the founding president. He also became the first chairman of the board of the Clinic called Operation Samahan.

Pilipino-Americans in support. Among the first in the Pilipino-American community to answer the call for help were officers of the Council of Philippine-American Organizations. Grace Pena Blaszkowski, herself a Pilipina who was then the chief of the City of San Diego's Office of Asian-American Affairs, was another key figure.

After concerted and diligent efforts, she was able to secure the funding from city and county agencies to jumpstart the move of the little clinic to more spacious quarters in National City.

The late National City Mayor Kile Morgan who, after representations by community leaders, allowed the free use of the Boys & Girls Club building for two years. An executive director was hired, provided the administrative support and machinery.

Ten years later, two clinics operated by Samahan served more than 20,000 patients a year on a total budget of $1.5-million.

In addition to the token fees paid by patients, the operating funds come from private donations, grants from institutions like the United Way and government aid from San Diego County, MediCal and Medicare.

Dr Candari as chairman of the board most of the time volunteered his services for about two decades. He says with pride, It gives me great satisfaction in looking back, to have helped organize a medical facility to serve the poor in the community.

Candari considers his involvement with the organization as the highlight of my medical career.

From ethnic to the mainstream

The San Diego Union Tribune has a special section entitled Community Solutions and it spotlights from time to time the work of organizations that have endeavored in their own unique way to help improve the lives of the disadvantaged and neglected segments of the population. Samahan Clinic was featured and highlighted.

Therein lies the secret for the awe-inspiring success of the medical clinics of Operation Samahan. From a purely ethnic Pilipino-manned and oriented operation, the project has metamorphosed into a mainstream player and its doors are now open to all the diverse peoples that make up the American landscape.

Now, Pilipinos, Laotians, Vietnamese, Latinos, African-Americans, and other immigrants regularly troop to the two clinics for their much-needed medical care which otherwise they could not afford elsewhere.

No one, absolutely no one, is turned away by Operation Samahan.

Although the clinics also accept people with insurance, more than 40% of their patients have no insurance coverage at all.

While nothing is entirely free, any patient whose annual income is twice the federal poverty level or below qualifies for Samahan's sliding-scale fee and pays a small percentage of the cost of treatment.

Uninsured patients who do not qualify for the sliding scale program pay $65 per visit, while the clinic pays for everything (including x-rays and other lab costs) above that amount.

Example of Pilipino-American capabilities. What started as a Friday-night-only clinic in 1972 by the three pioneers, Drs Candari, Quini and Gale, after a quarter of a century has grown into a full-blown operation with a professional staff of regular doctors, nurses and support persons.

Under Pilipino-American initiative and leadership demonstrates what our people can do to succeed if they put their minds and hearts into it. That all it takes is vision, courage and determination.

What Pilipinos in San Diego have accomplished with Operation Samahan is probably a very small step if viewed in the light of the unlimited potential for service that is waiting to be unleashed in all of our Pilipino-American communities across the United States.

But it is one giant leap to inspire all Filipinos everywhere and it is a shining example for emulation by all other minorities in America.

FAITH CORNER

suffering at the hands of the Babylonians. The prophet shifts from reflection on their trouble and suffering to hope. He proposes that a return to God will mean a reversal of fortune for the sinfulness of humankind.

Yet even now, says the Lord, return to me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping and with mourning; rend your hearts and not your clothing. Return to the Lord your God, for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love. Joel 2: 12-14

This to me is the reason we observe a Season of Lent each year. It is the overall message of Lent for all of us. Just as the Israelites in the time of Joel needed hope and encouragement during a low point in their lives, we too, in this uncertain and unpleasant world where people continue to turn their backs on the Lord, need to hear those same words: Return to the Lord your God, for He is gracious and merciful and abounding in steadfast love.

Despite all that we have done to displease the Lord our God, He gives us a chance to return to Him once more. In the imposition of ashes, He reminds us that our lives belong to Him and to Him alone. It is during these forty days of Lent that we hear the Lord's voice clearly as He says, return to me, return to me.

The inevitable question has to be, how far will the Lord go to see that His people return to Him?

Our scripture readings, our private reflections on our lives under God, our public confession of our faith throughout the year should give us the answer and this is made more profound and clear during the forty days of Lent.

How much does God want His people to return to Him? For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son so that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have eternal life. John 3:16

The season of Lent leads to the cross of Good Friday. We have 40 days in which to reflect on our past, put into practice those elements of religious life that Matthew writes in his gospel – alms giving, fasting and prayer.

And then, on Good Friday, we get to experience how far God will go to see that we return to Him. We cannot ever fully understand the hope that the resurrection brings without experiencing the cross of Good Friday. Then and only then can we appreciate Easter Sunday and thank the Lord for what He has done and continues to do for us.

Remember this: returning to God is not about us. It is about God loving and caring for His people, giving them chance after chance to return to where they belong – in His loving arms.

If I were to summarize the theme of the entire Bible in one sentence, it would be that God does not abandon His creation. Beginning with the fall of humankind in the Garden of Eden, God has never abandoned His creation throughout our existence.

God has sent His only begotten Son to die for us. Saint Paul, in his Letter to the Romans, accurately concluded that it would take Jesus Christ to reconcile us with God the Father once and for all.

people involved in the mission.

NOLI C
GUINIGUNDO MD

Initially we had the impression that the Department of Health wants to stop missions; but on the contrary, we are welcome but coordinate with them.

We are also in the process of making arrangement for July 2017 annual reunion in Long Beach CA.

There are certain items that we need to finalize during the Winter meeting that would affect the summer event.

This will be discussed in this upcoming meeting, hence, the importance of a good quorum.

Again, I implore the Trustees to please make it to the meeting on March 25.

More on this next time.
